

CREATING YOUR IDEAL LIFE

Dear Friends,

Over the summer and fall I have been acutely aware of the lack of control people are having over the events in their lives. Among my observations is the distress the many people are suffering from is unnecessary. People are beginning to live way beyond their biological limits. The choices they are making indicate a lack of awareness, focus and clarity of purpose.

When I took my first NLP Practitioner class 9 years ago, I decided who and what I wanted to be and what my life would be like. My dear friend, Herb Heasley, said, "Winners make their world so that they win." I began, with the help of Marilou Seavey, my devoted mentor, to create the beliefs and identity that would be congruent with the life I wanted. That life has evolved beyond the limited capabilities of my dreams at that time. I continue to make my life better and better and balancing a career with an active private life.

Marilou Seavey has been able to create and manifest everything in her life that she has every wanted or dreamed of. The strategies that she has developed and shared with me over the years work! We can truly be at choice about everything and anything in our life daily. I asked her to come to Dallas and do this workshop with me to teach others that we have the ability to create the dream life that we want. All we need to do is have congruent beliefs and the proper identity with it and it all can be ours!
